

INFO-Tracker™ Software

Condominium/HOA property & maintenance management

The growth and competitive nature of the condominium marketplace demand that corporations optimize their organizational processes. By leveraging technology to enhance and automate operational activities, and base decisions on business performance insight, condominium managers today have the opportunity to attain a competitive advantage through better productivity, improved client service and increased profitability.

For nearly two decades, Netintegrity has been helping condominium and HOA management companies, of all sizes, transform operational data into real business insights about performance, cost control, customers and service delivery. This cost-effective, comprehensive, easy-to-use and web-enabled solution, provides automated functionality, flexibility, scalability and management controls that allow condominium organizations to do more with limited resources.

Reflecting user feedback, and collaboration with condominium managers, INFO-Tracker incorporates the unique workflow and business processes of condominium management organizations. With INFO-Tracker, condominium corporations and HOAs derive real business intelligence that helps them optimize business processes, manage day-to-day activities, forecast the future and be more responsive - the key ingredients to increasing customer satisfaction, market share and profits.
